

RAPS SOLONS FOR ACTS UPON FLOOR

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., April 1.—Just think! Congressmen chew gum! Not only that, but they converse while speeches are being made on the most serious subjects, and some even chew tobacco, and still others read the newspapers during business hours.

Mrs. Maud Wood Park, of Boston, for four years chairman of the national committee of the National American Woman Suffrage association, which was largely instrumental in getting the federal suffrage amendment through congress, spoke at the citizenship school which is being held daily by the Pennsylvania League of Women Citizens in Witherspoon hall. Mrs. Park outlined the clumsy procedure of business in congress and explained the methods of nominating committees.

"New machinery is badly needed in congress," said Mrs. Park. "The new members are supposed to be seen and not heard when they first arrive, and after a few years they have grown so stupid that they forget what practices they believed were wrong or inadequate."

"But it is not fair to hold the most responsible for everything that happens in congress when the constituents make no protest against the practices. Every one who has visited congress knows that men talk, chew gum or tobacco on read newspapers while important questions are being discussed on the floor."

Mrs. J. Willis Martin urged the women to affiliate themselves with some political party. "Don't try to keep independent," said Mrs. Martin, "and think that you will reserve your vote for the best man. If you do that, you will be forced to choose the least wise candidate. Join some party and start with the primaries in selecting the candidate that you want to fill public office."
